Karatani Hironaka (right), the two top officers convicted of responsibility for the Bataan death march, have been hanged by the United States Army. They were among 15 more Japanese war criminals executed in the same courtyard where Tojo and other top Japanese war criminals met their end last year.

New Colorado Slaying Similar To Another Attack 7 Months Ago

BOULDER, Colo., June 11.—Authorities compared today the "definite similarity" between the slaying of a University of Colorado student and that seven months ago of a co-ed.

Dr. Angelo Lapi, Denver medical examiner, said the attacks on Roy G. Spore, Jr., of Denver and on Theresa Catherine Foster were alike "in the number and nature of wounds".

Bludgeoned To Death

Spore was virtually bludgeoned to death during a moonlight tryst Thursday night with Doris Ann Weaver, 19-year-old co-ed from Twin Falls, Idaho. His body was found in Boulder Creek a short distance from the wooded lover's glen where the couple was discussing vacation plans.

Dr. Lapi and George Howe, Boulder County coroner, said after an autopsy that Spore died of drowning but Dr. Lapi added that the youth probably would have succumbed to his head wounds.

Suicide Case Is Woven Into Coplon Trial

By CHARLES E. SEIB (I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, June 11.—The name of a former state department employee whose throat-slashed body was found in the Potomac river last Saturday night was woven today into the Judith Coplon spy trial.

The man was Morton E. Kent, 48, recently export director for the Addressograph-Multigraph Corp., a Russian by birth and for nearly 10 years a government employee.

Listed As Suicide

Coroner A. Magruder MacDonald listed Kent's death as suicide at the time of the inquest.

One FBI report presented as evidence in the Coplon trial cited an informant's statement that an "Emily Condon," not otherwise identified, gave Kent the New (Continued on Page Two)

Consider Plan For Winding Up Paris Meeting

Four-Point Plan Will Be Ironed Out Today By Western Powers

TO MEET VISHINSKY ON MATTER SUNDAY

By KINGSBURY SMITH (European General Manager, I. N. S.)

PARIS, June 11.—A four-point plan for winding up the Paris Conference of Foreign Ministers next week—including provisions for increased east-west trade—will be ironed out today by the western powers.

Foreign ministers of the United States, Britain and France will confer today to discuss the tentative draft. The western statesmen will meet with Russia's Andrei Y. Vishinsky tomorrow, at which time they are expected to broach their plan.

Report Of Proposal

Informal sources reported that the plan has these elements:

1—The date of the next meeting of the foreign ministers to be discussed at the September session of the United Nations General Assembly.

2—An arrangement whereby western and Soviet authorities in Germany will consult from time to time on matters of mutual interest.

3—An agreement in principle on the advisability of expanding trade between eastern and western Germany.

4—Instructions to Big Four experts to consider methods of facilitating such expansion, including (Continued on Page Two)

President In Little Rock To Make Address

By ROBERT G. NIXON (I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., June 11.—President Truman relaxed today with his old World War I "buddies" in Little Rock before making an address of high importance in United States-World Relations, this afternoon.

Mr. Truman will deliver his first major foreign policy speech in many months this afternoon to the men who were with him in the crucial days of the final drive that ended the first world conflict.

The President's theme is expected to be one of hope for world peace and recognition at the same time that many things have occurred since the last World War to prevent unity among nations.

The chief executive, a man noted for getting up early in the morning, had a full forenoon beginning at 7 a. m. lined up for him.

Enthusiastic Welcome

Mr. Truman was given a highly enthusiastic welcome as he arrived in Arkansas yesterday afternoon.

The streets were lined with cheering, shouting people who came out to greet him despite a blistering sun.

At the Robinson auditorium, there were comparatively few people. The total count of the 3,300 seating capacity was 164 persons, not including the police, protective agencies and the President's party.

However, after inquiry, it was said the public had not been invited to attend the meeting, a business session of the executive committee of the 35th Infantry Division, of which Battery D was a subordinate unit.

Immediately after today's address, the chief executive is to board his plane and fly back to Washington, where he will arrive about 8 p. m. (EDT).

Prof. Hoffmaster Leads His Croton Band For Last Time At School Ground

Asa Hoffmaster, teacher, principal, musician, humanitarian, leads his Croton school band for the last time, before a crowd of several thousand friends, students and former students, at the Croton school grounds on Friday evening.

Croton People Pay Notable Farewell Tribute To Principal Hoffmaster On Friday Night

They graduated W. Asa Hoffmaster at the Croton school Friday night.

After forty-five years as an educator, thirty-six of them as principal of the Croton school, Mr. Hoffmaster was graduated into retirement, but what a graduation service it was.

No mortar boards or doctors of philosophy. But there was a parade, two bands, fireworks, a program, a presentation of gifts, and free ice cream. All of them adding up to Croton's way of saying farewell to a school man who has become a tradition in the district.

The Croton Way

When the Croton folks set out to do a job they do it in the grand manner. And the farewell to Mr. Hoffmaster was done just a little the best of their many activities over the years.

They wanted to show the retiring principal what they thought of him and at the end of the evening there wasn't a soul in the crowd of some 2500 that wasn't sure of it. Particularly Mr. and Mrs. Hoffmaster and their family.

The evening's festivities began at seven-thirty when a parade moved from Crawford and Croton up to the school house at Croton and Cascade.

Marshals Walter C. De Arment and Jack Wilson headed the parade. Back of them came Mr. and Mrs. Hoffmaster in an open car and then the Croton band. With the Croton band marched some of the veterans of this unusual organization, men who as boys in 1917 were members of the Croton Drum Corps.

Then a long line of cars with city officials, prominent citizens and folks. Back of them the New (Continued on Page Thirteen)

Boyles Field Scene Of Scout Camporee

"I've eaten better tonight than I have for weeks" said one of the boy scouts at the Camporee on Boyles Field near Highland U. P. church on Highland avenue, Friday evening.

"What did you have," asked a visiting buddy from another patrol. "Fruit cup, salmon patty, fried potatoes, peas, tossed salad and no dessert."

Other evening meals at the two-day camping event may not have been quite as appetizing but the boys are going to be judged on their menus previously prepared and some of them look like they were lifted from the Waldorf-Astoria.

Seventeen Patrols

Seventeen patrols from various troops in the Kuskuski district are represented at the camporee. Registration started Friday afternoon at one o'clock and the boys immediately started setting up camp.

Many have war surplus tents while the scout officials slept in an undertaker's tent.

Lewis Is Given Verbal Slugging By J. C. Petrillo

SAN FRANCISCO, June 11.—(INS)—James C. Petrillo, pint-sized, peppery president of the AFL-American Federation of Musicians, last night handed John L. Lewis a verbal slugging and called him "nuts".

Petrillo, addressing the musicians' convention in San Francisco after his re-election as president, attacked the United Mine Workers president as a labor leader who has broken faith with his own men and the American public.

Sails Into Lewis

With his usual staccato delivery, Petrillo acknowledged the cheers of the more than 1,000 delegates who had re-elected his whole slate and then sailed into Lewis.

"With the Taft-Hartley repeal before Congress, a certain labor leader says to his workers, 'take a vacation'."

"So far as I am concerned I think John L. Lewis is nuts."

"I say to him, 'you are not a faithful labor leader nor are you faithful to the people of America.'"

"There it is. Somebody had to say it so I said it."

"I'll take Lewis on here, on the radio or any place in America."

Soviet Authorities Agree To Meet On Berlin Rail Strike

BERLIN, June 11.—(INS)—Soviet authorities in Berlin agreed to meet with western officials tonight in an effort to end the Berlin railway strike.

The four military commanders in Berlin have been instructed by the big four council of foreign ministers to report on Monday on progress made in restoring normal transport and trade conditions following suspension of the blockade.

Brunton Takes His Motor Launch To Conneaut Lake

Large motor launch, which Merle Brunton, Fairmont avenue, spent one year building, was placed in Conneaut Lake, this afternoon, having been shipped from Fairport avenue, by trailer, today. It will be one of the largest boats on the lake.

Having a cabin, it can accommodate four sleepers, and is equipped for a stove, has electric lights, operated by an auto battery, 30-horsepower motor, and 30-gallon gasoline tank, and huge fire extinguisher.

While the sleeping accommodations are within the cabin, there is seating capacity for a dozen persons. It is equipped with a siren, is beautified by chromium, both inside and outside, and presents a picture of white beauty.

More than 15,000 copper and brass screws were used in the boat. Mr. Brunton began working on the motorboat one year ago. His father, Harry Brunton aided him, as did his two sons.

PHILCO CO. HEAD DIES

PHILADELPHIA, June 11.—(INS)—Funeral services will be held Monday for John Ballantyne, chairman of the board of Philco Corp., who collapsed and died while delivering an address at his son's graduation exercises.

Ballantyne, 49, fell to the platform as he was making a welcoming speech at the Meadowbrook school ceremonies. He was pronounced dead by Dr. Ralph Hoerner, a physician in the audience.

The 18,000 striking West Berliners have been asking full payment in western marks. The Soviets have countered with an offer of 60 per cent payment in west marks, which has been rejected.

As a result, the strike has been deadlocked, and rail traffic from West Germany to Berlin halted.

Plan To Observe Centennial Of County, Sept. 1

Plans for the marking of Lawrence county's centennial were laid Friday afternoon in the office of Judge W. Walter Braham at the court house.

Elected officials of the county met with Judge Braham and decided that on September 1, the one hundredth anniversary of the county will be celebrated with a public gathering.

Along with the public gathering a book will be prepared with some of the early history of the county. Governor James H. Duff will be asked to attend the centennial dinner as will U. S. Senators Edward Martin and Francis J. Myers.

In order to promote the plans for the one-day celebration a committee was named. Judge Braham is the chairman, County Commissioner Harvey B. Bush is the vice chairman, County Controller Andrew M. Dadds is the secretary, and County Treasurer Don I. Neal is the treasurer.

The celebration will not be elaborate. There will be no week's program with the customary shows and attractions. The idea is to mark in a simple way, the birth of Lawrence county and that birthday is September 1.

Berlin Rail Strike Enters Fourth Week

BERLIN, June 11.—(INS)—The Berlin rail strike entered its fourth week today, showing little signs of an approaching settlement.

East-West tension was eased somewhat last night when striking West Berlin rail workers stopped picketing the Soviet rail directorate building in the U. S. sector.

Soviet trucks removed typewriters, files and office equipment from the building to another office in the Russian sector.

The 18,000 striking West Berliners have been asking full payment in western marks. The Soviets have countered with an offer of 60 per cent payment in west marks, which has been rejected.

As a result, the strike has been deadlocked, and rail traffic from West Germany to Berlin halted.

Miners Prepare For Mine Closing On Lewis' Order

Many Miners Work Today In Anticipation Of Coming Work Stoppage

MANY RAILROADERS FEEL ORDER EFFECT

By PHILLIPS J. PECK (I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, June 11. Thousands of miners reported for an unusual Saturday work-shift today in anticipation of next week's shutdown ordered by John L. Lewis.

Ordinarily the mines do not work Saturday or Sunday although the sixth day is optional with the operators. Some mines recently have operated only two or three days a week because of a slump in coal demand.

"Work Today"

However, many operators hung out the "work today" sign this Saturday to fill railroad cars for shipment during the June 13-20 stoppage.

Most miners are expected to take advantage of the work opportunity because Saturday is paid for at time and one-half and next week there will be no paychecks.

Lewis ordered the shutdown to "stabilize" the industry in the face of over-production of coal and apparently to put the union in a better bargaining position for a new wage contract.

The existing agreement expires June 30.

Thousands Feel Impact

Meantime, additional thousands of railroad workers are feeling the impact of the forthcoming mine closure. They are being furloughed from their jobs by the big coal-carrying lines.

More than 21,000 rail employees have been laid off by the following carriers: Pennsylvania, 15,000; New York Central, 5,475; Reading, 1,000.

The CIO-United Railway Workers Union protested the Pennsylvania curtailment as "uncalled for." A company spokesman said there was "no alternative," however, in view of the impending mine stoppage and the "low ebb" of business generally.

Extent Indefinite

The extent of the coal walkout remains indefinite. It may last (Continued on Page Two)

Coal Mine Closing Affects Railroaders

Mahoningtown Shops Of Pennsy Among Those Affected By Lewis Mine Closing Order

PHILADELPHIA, June 11.—(INS)—Some 16,000 employees of the Reading and Pennsylvania railroads faced lay-offs today because of next week's scheduled work stoppage in the nation's coal mines.

The Pennsylvania railroad announced that approximately 15,000 employees would be furloughed throughout its system because of the "low ebb" of business generally and the impending mine shutdown.

The Reading railroad said it would lay off about 1,000 employees.

A Pennsy spokesman said it would be shut down at Altoona, Pa.; Columbus, O.; Ft. Wayne, Ind.; Terre Haute, Ind.; Renovo, Pa.; Meadows, N. J.; Pitsburgh, Pa.; Wilmington, Del.; Enola, Pa., and Mahoningtown, Pa.

Track work, and work at freight yards and engine houses throughout the system also will be suspended, the PRR said.

Oh rustle me up that flashy tie, and a shirt that is pressed and clean, and pick me a bud from the garden flowers with a touch of the verdant green. And see that my shoes have a proper shine and my trousers are pressed just so, for today there's a couple of folks to be wed and we are supposed to go. So the organ will peal and the ladies will weep, and the bride will be lovely and gay, and the groom will be nervous as all grooms are and it's just eighty four today.

High School Seniors Appreciate Aid In Class Event Here

Students can stay in town—and have fun too.

Proof of this statement may be found in the fact that the seniors had their dinner, dance, floor show and even breakfast at 3 o'clock in the morning, and all in the Cathedral building in town! Young people are adventurous and fun-loving, and especially if they are graduating seniors. This is only natural and normal for the people of such an age.

Many people of the community understood this desire for a good time, and saw that something was done about it. They knew that if things didn't prove to be entertaining enough, students would go elsewhere to find fun. Recklessness and accidents generally result from such adventure.

To keep a night free of accidents and injuries, a program was planned that will long be remembered by the senior class. Miss Frances M. Haydon, the supervisor of the class, sums up the feeling of the class in the following letter:

"On behalf of the class of 1949 of the New Castle senior high school, I wish to thank the following people for enthusiastic cooperation in making the senior dinner-dance on Wednesday evening, June 8, the great success it was. Doctor Frank L. Burton, Clara B. Book, Howard Reynolds and other members of the school board, Russell Melvin and the Cathedral Association, Cecil Suber, the mayor's recreation committee, the Elks club, the Womadsis who prepared the breakfast, the many mothers of seniors who contributed sandwiches, merchants who contributed prizes so generously, the talent of the floor show, James Cavill who "emceed" cleverly and capably on short notice, and especially to the parents of the seniors."

Seniors really had their day—and night! The pattern in which this program was conducted is one which should be given consideration and practiced more in the future, if people want young people to "stay at home" and have their fun right here in New Castle.

siderable rain fell in that area during the early part of the evening.

Rye harvest is in effect in the East Brook road section. A large field has already been partially harvested. The stand looked excellent and no doubt will bring a fairly good yield.

Many churches about the city will dispense with their regular order of worship on Sunday in order that boys and girls may present their children's day program. Sunday school and morning worship will be combined in most instances in order to give the youngsters a longer period for their programs.

Cherries are ripening in various parts of the county. Already robins, crows and other feathered friends have set up a lookout waiting for the finished product, it is reported. Farmers have to pick the fruit when it is ready or a few days delay will mean very little crop due to the birds getting there first.

A noticeable difference is already being made on the court house as workmen apply the first coat of paint to the structure. The buildings will be enhanced greatly when the work is completed.

With hotter weather in the offing, local dog owners should make sure their dogs are well tied when no one is at home, so as to prevent children or others passing the home from being injured by the animals. Several cases of children being hit have already been reported.

Campooree had been made at scout meetings earlier and the boys carefully set up their camp using many of the best methods for outdoor camping.

To Make Awards
Altar fires, foil cooking, and tin can utensils were utilized by various patrols. All are seeking to be judged the best at the end of competition this afternoon and win a medal for each member of the patrol.

Blue, yellow and white streamers will be awarded other patrols according to accumulated point totals.

Before a large altar fire, a Court of Honor was held Friday evening. Al Chamberlain was in charge of the program which included group singing, colors, taps and an impressive presentation of badges ceremony.

Present Eagle Badge

Harvey Hickey was awarded the highest honor for a boy in scouting, the eagle badge. Chamberlain made the presentation. The honoree's mother and father were both present. The father gave his son the badge and Harvey presented his proud mother with a bouquet of roses.

Three scouts, James Crawford and Bill Hirschfeld of troop 5, and Harry Wright of troop 22, were given their life scout awards.

Scout executive John Lawson gave a short talk on the purpose of Camporee during the program. He explained that such outings gave the boys a chance to utilize that information about camping which they had been studying all during the winter. It also stimulates friendly competition among boys in camping skills, and it gives all an opportunity to enjoy that fraternal spirit that is fostered by sitting around a camp-fire.

The boys started packing their gear soon after the noon meal today and will head home for a night's sleep on a little softer bed this evening.

NEW COLORADO SLAYING SIMILAR TO ONE 7 MONTHS AGO

last month of second degree murder in the slaying of Miss Foster, although he insisted she was killed by a "short, blond man".

Blond Hair Factor

A blond hair was extracted during the autopsy from a cut on one of Spore's knuckles and was taken for an analysis.

The 19-year-old student and Miss Weaver were attacked suddenly. The girl said she was struck first on the head. She stated:

"In the midst of our conversation, something struck me on the head. There were three blows I'm sure."

"I briefly saw a tall slim man standing a few feet from us. He had a terrible look on his face."

Told Her To Run

She said Spore told her to run and as she sped toward the university campus she heard him cry out:

"Don't beat me Don't hit me."

Miss Weaver said the youth was unable to flee since his left leg was in a cast because of an old injury. She added:

"I know he couldn't defend himself very well because of his injured leg, but I knew he would fight the man to help me. I guess that's what he did."

The autopsy showed Spore was struck repeatedly with a blunt instrument. He received four to six fractures of the skull. His nose was broken and his right ear, right arm and lips bruised.

freer movement of transportation between the two zones.

See End Of Parley

A definite indication that the Big Four will wind up next week was seen in announcement that foreign ministers of the five Brussels Pact signatory nations will meet in Luxembourg on June 17-18.

The Brussels signatories are Great Britain, France, Belgium, Holland and Luxembourg.

Western sources reiterated that any trade agreement between Russia and the western allies would be contingent on free access to Berlin for the U. S., France and Britain.

Should the Soviets agree to the four-point plan, the conference would end with an element of success only in the trade field, such questions as unification of Germany and Berlin, and the German and Austrian peace treaty would remain virtually untouched.

Can Give No Clue

Kent's wife, the former Peggy Duffy, a Washington society photographer, could give no clue to her husband's death. On the day of his suicide, Mrs. Kent said she drove him to the Potomac river where he said he would be fishing.

When his body was found in the river she said he had been "depressed" over the loss of his job.

Kent reportedly was let out at the Multigraph company because of a merger in the export division. He was said to have been highly thought of, was a graduate of Harvard University and spoke several languages. Before entering private business, Kent worked in the labor department, the office of economic warfare and the state department.

Other former state department employees also were named by the FBI informants.

There Is Still Time, To Plant Evergreens

For that vacant corner in the yard, or that unsightly spot near the wall. A few evergreens, some rhododendron or perhaps a fruit tree will pay you dividends in beauty.

There's still a little time left to plant evergreens or fruit trees, but not too much. Drive out to the greenhouse any day or night, select your trees or bedding flower stock.

Mrs. Chambers Called In Case

Testifies That She And Her Husband Knew Mr. and Mrs. Alger Hiss Very Well

By JAMES L. KILGALLIN
(N. S. Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK, June 11.—Mrs. Esther Chambers testified at the Alger Hiss perjury trial Friday that she and her husband, Whitaker Chambers, knew Mr. and Mrs. Alger Hiss very well in Washington, D. C., and in Baltimore, Md., during "on many occasions," and that during a six-weeks' period in April and May 1935 the Chambers family occupied a home vacated by the Hisses at 2831 Twenty-Eighth street, N.W., Washington.

Whittaker Chambers, former Communist courier, charges that Hiss turned over many secret State department documents to him in 1938 for transmission to a Soviet spy ring.

Mrs. Chambers, a slim, pale woman of 49, wearing glasses, spoke in a voice that could barely be heard at times in the crowded courtroom. She was dressed in a grey suit and a black hat.

She was asked by Assistant U.S. Attorney Thomas F. Murphy, the chief prosecutor, if she saw the defendant Hiss in court. She said she did.

Knew Husband Was Communist
Dramatically, Hiss was asked by the prosecutor to stand up.

Asked if she knew Mrs. Hiss, Mrs. Chambers nodded in the direction of the defendant's wife. Mrs. Hiss was not asked to rise.

Mrs. Chambers was asked if she knew her husband was a Communist when she married him in 1931.

"I did," she replied.

"Were you a Communist?" inquired Murphy.

"I was sympathetic to communism," she replied, "I never was a member of the Communist party."

She said Mrs. Hiss had visited her at her home "on many occasions," and she recalled one time when her maid served luncheon to she and Mrs. Hiss.

Condemned Men To Make Appeal

Two Slayings Will Appeal For Clemency To State Pardons Board In June

HARRISBURG, June 11.—(INS)—Two condemned slayers will appeal for clemency to the state pardons board during its monthly session June 21-23.

The board also will hear 154 other appeals during the three-day meeting.

Board hearings will open with the appeal of Edward Hough, 34, of Philadelphia, who is slated to die in the electric chair at Rockview penitentiary June 27.

Hough was convicted with two accomplices in the fatal shooting of Patrolman Cecil Ingling during a supermarket holdup in January, 1947.

David Almeida, also sentenced to death in the slaying, presently has an appeal pending before the U. S. Supreme Court. The third man, James F. Smith Jr., was sentenced to life in prison.

The board will open the second day of its hearings with the appeal of Rufus E. Keller, Allentown steelworker, sentenced to death for the mutilation slaying of Mary Avalon, November 12, 1948.

NEW YORK, June 11.—(INS)—A bird on the handle is worth two in the bush, from the style standpoint.

A costly handbag, introduced in New York today, featured a stiff, colorful flapping bird for flight at one end of its hand-strap.

Purse, handle, and bird were made of linen. The little box bag itself is cream-colored with a peacock-blue silk taffeta lining.

And the tiny bird—knee high to a sparrow—is peacock-blue shaded with navy. Its eye is a seed pearl, its heart emerald.

DIVORCE RATE ON DECREASE

NEW YORK, June 11.—(INS)—The divorce rate is dropping.

Dr. Leland Foster Wood, secretary of the commission on marriage and the home of the Federal Council of Churches, reported that the crest of the postwar divorce wave has passed.

In 1945, he said, there was one divorce to every three marriages. But, he noted, the rate has now dropped to one for every four and a half marriages.

P.U.C. Refuses To Dismiss Complaint In Ellwood Case

HARRISBURG, June 11.—(INS)—A petition by the Ellwood Consolidated Water Co. for dismissal of a complaint against a May 1 rate increase in Ellwood City was refused by the Public Utility Commission.

The commission ordered a hearing on a complaint filed by Martin J. Kovach, of Ellwood City, who charged the rates are "unjust, unwarranted, undue, unlawful and discriminatory."

The company estimated the recent 20 per cent boost on all metered and unmetered service would yield an estimated $29,000 additional annual gross revenue.

An earlier protest by Ellwood City borough was scheduled for hearing at the same time, the PUC said.

An important fact every dog owner should consider is the nutrient balance of the ration. To keep your pet healthy and happy it must contain the necessary proteins, vitamins and minerals in easily digestible forms. Tri-Blend is a combination of nutritious ingredients carefully selected to meet the dog's complete food needs. It contains abundant proteins to build and maintain body sinew—carbohydrates to provide heat and energy—minerals for strong framework, good bones and teeth—vitamins to aid assimilation and help regulate body processes. BORROWED RADICALISM

It has been the history of this country that no political radicals ever got anywhere in their own right. No third party ever attained a permanent place in national politics.

But no sooner does its crackpot ideas gain the support of a million voters than they are adopted by a major party and soon are in effect. The country would have none of the old Populist party and what it stood for, but today it has accepted many of the nostrums it advocated.

Daily history is repeating itself. The nation is concerned over the spread of Socialism and Communism, and these elements, as political organizations, will get nowhere. But many of the things they advocate are being adopted by the party in power, in an effort to attract the votes of minorities. Many have been written into law.

Today the country is operating under many of the rules Bryan, Debs and other radicals proclaimed, and which were greatly feared at the time. These include the income tax, farm prices fixed by government, federal housing, government regulation of industry, banking and transportation, pensions, etc.

FAILURE UPON FAILURE

No observable progress toward solving any of the problems on the agenda is being made by the Big Four foreign ministers at Paris. They are merely moving from disagreement to disagreement.

Having failed to reach a settlement on Germany, they seem about to fail to deal with Berlin. In the circumstances, there is little hope that it will do any good to talk about a German peace treaty—or a peace treaty with Austria.

So the question arises again: What did the Russians have in mind when they initiated this conference by promising to end the Berlin blockade?

Observers in Paris have suggested that Moscow does not want any kind of political settlement at this time but is interested in an economic arrangement that would increase the flow of trade between countries on both sides of the iron curtain. That answer is now open to doubt. It is open to doubt because the United States must insist on some assurance that the Berlin blockade will not be clamped down again before it can consent to forget about the counter-blockade on eastern Germany.

The Russian proposal on Berlin is so far from the western plan that it is obviously unacceptable. Unless the Russians are ready to make concessions, it is hard to see how an economic accord will be possible.

As long as the talks continue there is always a chance that one side or the other will budge a little and thus open the way for real bargaining. But at the moment the outlook is not promising. The one shred of hope still left lies in the reasoning that the Russians did not seek these talks merely to make conversation or even propaganda.

It may be that the Muscovites are putting on a show of indifference because they do not want to seem too eager to get whatever it is they want.

"MIXED UP" IS RIGHT

The case of Dan McCarthy, 22, a Brooklyn-born former GI who wants to become a German citizen, is puzzling. There are less drastic ways of escaping from Brooklyn.

He's not in love with a fraulein, and he has nothing against the United States. But he has appeared before the American consul in Frankfurt, asking if he could give up his American citizenship and become a German.

He is proud to have been a U. S. citizen, he says. He just likes the German way of life better. He has found people in Germany diligent, hard-working, hospitable and generous, lovers of music and the simple things of life, with fine family feelings. He has found these qualities in America, too, but "in smaller degree."

His mother says he has been "mixed up" for the last three years, and this seems obvious. But many anti-Nazi Americans have had something of the same feeling toward Germans.

German people have two sides. One is kindly, sentimental and law-abiding. The other is militaristic and cruel. Dan McCarthy has been seeing only one side.

Men who failed to adjust to military service have reacted in strange ways, which sometimes aren't their fault. But asking what is wrong with him may be less profitable than asking: Where did his fellow-countrymen fail him?

Germany is a land of poverty and rubble. What other values, which McCarthy failed to find in his own country, does it offer to offset its lack of comforts?

The values he felt more strongly there are human values—association in friendship, common effort, mutual respect; singing and arguing and playing together. There are important qualities. Is present-day American society providing them in satisfying measure?

Economists are divided. Some think a long boom lies ahead. Others think it will be a loud one.

Scientists advise that if we stop worrying it will cure a headache. How can we, with all these headaches?

The chap who brags about his love for rainy days probably never had a house with a leaky basement.

Reports that Britain's Princess Margaret Rose may visit the United States and Canada next year recall a more pleasant age of international relationships a generation ago when the Duke of Windsor, as Prince of Wales, toured the world as a "salesman of empire."

There is no official confirmation that King George, whose word is law within the royal family at least, has given permission for his younger daughter to make such a trip.

But it is entirely in character that she should wish to go, since she has many American friends in the smart embassy set of London.

And in addition to this, she is a high-spirited young lady who in many respects resembles her dashing uncle who gave up his throne for love.

Princess Elizabeth is known now to all the world because she is heress-pretensive to the crown, still a dazzling bride and the mother of the "Bonny Prince Charlie" whose name already is a modern legend.

But Margaret Rose is known to have a remarkable character and a great strength of will.

"Little Sister" Growing Up
She always has been the "little sister." In growing up, she always had to take second place to Elizabeth, who in childhood days was far prettier and, of course, the pampered darling of the court and of the plain people too.

Margaret never allowed herself to develop a feeling of inferiority, however.

On the contrary, knowing that she never would have to assume really royal burdens, she started her more or less adult life on two premises: to find out what was going on in the world and have a good time doing so.

The result has been a chic, well-educated young lady, "full of beans" as the British say, and a definite asset to the commonwealth.

Much publicity has been given to her love for dancing, night clubs and movies and a good deal less to the many hours she has been spending every day on more prosaic missions.

She has been at Bow street court and the Old Bailey; she has attended sessions of the law courts, visited social settlements, christened ships and toured the slums.

Windsor, who might have been a great king, did much less to the many hours she has been spending every day on more prosaic missions.

When I read that on the very first morning goes on the rocks, I simply don't believe it. But even if it were true it wouldn't be so awfully terrible.

One in every four sounds bad. But when you look at it another way it means that out of every million marriages, seven hundred fifty thousand are successful, or at least stick together.

I wonder where the statisticians get their figures.

Naturally, people who spend a lot of their time in night clubs are not going to be successful at marriage.

In the big cities there are bound to be more divorces because there are so many more temptations.

Human beings are not all exemplars of virtue and of moral strength.

Satan, if you believe in him, is a little bit like those folks in the Kremlin.

He has plenty of under-cover boys and girls to lead susceptible victims astray.

But I maintain that there is nothing wrong with marriage fundamentally, any more than there is anything wrong with Democracy fundamentally.

But just as Democracy has to be practiced and not preached, marriage has to be practiced and not just played at.

Marriage is a partnership. If one partner is business steals, the partnership is eventually going to go on the rocks.

If two partners fight with each other too much, they usually dissolve the partnership.

Marriage is just like that. Cheating and fighting can't ever make a marriage last.

Divorce is simply a dissolution of partnership.

The trouble is that happy marriages never get any publicity, except when a couple celebrate their silver or their golden wedding anniversary.

prompted by a feeling of responsibility.

Has Shown Ability
Princess Margaret Rose has shown her ability to override by the force of her personality even serious criticism such as that which came from British and Irish Protestant circles when she was received by Pope Pius during her recent visit to Italy.

Many influential persons in Britain favor an American trip for Margaret.

Some want it made quietly and unostentatiously for prestige purposes alone. Others—and these are reported to include members of the Labor government concerned over their country's welfare and their own political futures—have more grandiose ideas.

They would have the princess following the same line as the Prince of Wales, spreading good will everywhere, dressed in Harris tweed and liberty silks and carrying the best handbags the British leather industry can produce, all in the interests of plain, solid business.

Even to this day the average Englishman, with his stringent meat rations, is likely to think kindly of the Duke of Windsor whenever he is able to tackle a meagre portion of roast beef.

It was his visit to Argentina that resulted in a far-reaching trade agreement that supplied Britain with mountains of meat at prices far lower than the almost prohibitive home cost of prime English beef and mutton.

There have been lapses and some difficulties since President Juan Peron came to power, but these always have been patched up. Those anxious to buy Margaret Rose a first-class ticket to New York believe that she too, in a demure and charming way, can prove to be a super-salesman and turn up the foreign outlets that Britain desperately needs to survive.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

DON'T SPANK BABY FOR CRYING

Some very severe fathers and an occasional mother will spank an infant only a few months old to make it stop crying, especially at night. While the mere shock may at times seem to work, it rarely will. The baby may never sense the connection and just cry more. Besides, there usually is a physical reason for excessive crying, which only the physician can properly diagnose.

Parents who are sure they should sometimes spank a young child certainly should stick to one strict rule: Never give the child pain, even with words, until he can move about under his own steam and face definite hazards. In the meanwhile, discipline yourself so as to do for him only what you are sure you should do. Be also sure to guide him gently, and often, especially when all is well, or even when he seems unhappy and jittery for extended periods, letting him hear only gentle words and tones from you by day or night. Work on yourself and the family to be serene.

Definite Purpose
Naturally, the child will cry when given pain. If you punish him with a definite purpose, let him cry and be not disturbed thereby. No sense in causing him to cry and then punishing him again for crying which you caused. After you have rebuked or punished a child of any age in whatever way you deem wise, close the matter promptly and make your self act as if nothing irregular had happened. Don't bring up the matter again. Prove to the child that his resistant emotional response will not stir up like response in you. Even if the child 2, 5 or 8, while serving sentence sitting in a chair for a definite period without amusement, should desire while sitting there to visit with you visit with him naturally, only be sure not to talk with him then of matters related to the punishment.

When he finally discovers that you won't wobble, that you are consistent, and that there are no doubts about your word, he will see that crying will do him no good. Indeed, he may by and by, when assigned a penalty, accept it stoically and not cry at all.

Definite Request
Suppose you find that your child (Continued on Page Seven)

JUNE BRIDE

Sweet bride of June! Your wedding day, which once had seemed so far away. Has come at last. The dreaming passed, And now there are the vows to say.

So young, so beautiful to see In your joy and pride To be a bride. But there are happier days to be.

You're lovely now, but lovelier still Will be the roles that you may fill As times goes by The first joy and pride You hear your baby make will thrill.

God grant you grace with added years And softer charms when age appears. But still above All else are love. A joyous home, and faith for years. (Copyright, 1949, Edgar A. Guest)

Boy did we have fun last night . . . we, meaning over 1000 citizens of this community . . . It was up at the Croton school . . . Hoffmaster night it was known as . . . Jim Foster, marshal of the parade really did his stuff . . . Special car carrying Mr. and Mrs. Hoffmaster led the way up Croton avenue . . . followed by the ever-popular Croton Band . . . then members of the First World War Croton Bugle and Drum Corps under the supervision of William "Hip" Twaddle . . . then the Ne-Cro-Hi Band in all their splendor and finally many well-wishers of the retiring principal.

The weather stayed nice as you remember . . . not too warm or not too cool . . . just right . . . and everyone looked mighty happy . . . along with Mr. and Mrs. Hoffmaster on the platform was his son Dr. Hoffmaster, his wife and two children . . . Members of the school board and city council, Dr. and Mrs. Burton, members of the 1st WW Bugle and Drum Corps. The Main speaker of the evening, Bart Richards . . . and the hard working committee (Honor Roll Group) from the Croton area who made the evening possible with their excellent planning.

We would like to thank the Pennsylvania Power Company for the excellent cooperation in furnishing the colored lights and the loud speaking system. The City of New Castle for erecting the speakers platform . . . The GNCA for helping to coordinate the affair . . . Yes, friends, again was shown a beautiful spirit of cooperation, the kind of cooperation that will make this town continue to grow and keep the distinction of being the best town on earth.

And all the bakers of the town joined hands in furnishing delicious cake, with the Borden Company dishing up the ice cream . . . From all respects we feel that it was a very nice affair for a man that is loved by all.

Palestine Truce Temporary

WASHINGTON, June 11.—No one knows better than Dr. Ralph Bunche, the skilled United Nations trouble-shooter, that the present peace in Palestine is no more than a temporary truce so long as certain causes of friction exist in the explosive middle east. That conviction is behind a confidential report Dr. Bunche made after his return from his successful mediation of the Palestine war.

There can be no permanent peace, he reported, until some solution is found for the problem of the 700,000 to 800,000 Arab refugees who fled from their homes during the war. These refugees are now being cared for with United Nations funds in temporary camps that are seriously overcrowded.

Same Conclusion
The same conclusion was reached by George McGee, new assistant secretary of state for middle east affairs. McGee has just returned from a month in the middle east, much of his time having been spent in a study of the Arab refugees and what to do about them.

A plan is being worked out, as yet carefully shielded from publicity, to apply President Truman's now-famous point IV to the problem of what to do about the Arab refugees. Point IV in the president's inaugural address, it will be recalled, proposed to apply to retarded regions in order to raise living standards.

Trygve Lie, secretary general of the United Nations, made a speech the other day intended to prepare the way for a joint IV plan for the middle east. He was speaking at the University of Chattanooga in Tennessee and he took as his theme the great achievements of the Tennessee Valley Authority and the urgent need for the same approach in the impoverished Arab countries. Referring to point IV and the presence of the refugees on the borders of Israel, Lie said:

Requires Development Plan
"The interests of the new state of Israel, the newest member of the United Nations, coincide in respect to economic development with the interests of the neighbors with whom she has been in contact. Lasting peace in Palestine—and in the whole near east—cannot be achieved by any possible political settlement alone. It will require a comprehensive economic development plan that will harness the waters and other resources of the region for the benefit of all the people living there in the way that TVA has done for the people living in this valley."

Lie urged that with boldness and "the best speed possible" the valleys of the Jordan, the Tigris, the Euphrates and the Nile be developed with hydro-electric, irrigation and flood-control projects. A somewhat similar proposal comes from the American Zionist Emergency Council in a memorandum prepared by Eliahu Ben-Horin urging the extensive development of Iraq as a home for the refugees.

Political Issue
A political issue arises here. Israeli officials until recently opposed the return of Arab refugees to communities within Israel from which they fled, making exceptions for broken families—where the man of the household left behind his wife and children. They have just announced their willingness to restore a larger number in the framework of a general peace treaty.

The Arab countries insist that the refugees be returned to the villages from which they came. The deadline might be broken by the kind of speedy action to restore the fertility of desert valleys that Trygve Lie called for.

But here, of course, you come up against politics in the United States. At the thought of going to congress for a point IV appropriation, which would either be part of a U. N. fund or spent directly under American supervision, (Continued on Page Seven)

They Say

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y.—Fredrick Osborn, U. S. representative on the United Nations Atomic Energy Commission: "The U. S. is not willing that the prohibition of atomic weapons should go into effect prior to the going into effect of a system of control."

NEW YORK—Supreme Court Justice Douglas: "We must cling to the United Nations. We must not discard or weaken it. We must strengthen it by using its machinery to evolve a world government."

WASHINGTON—Marshall Plan Administrator Paul G. Hoffman: "I have been talking about a four billion dollar (European recovery) program for 12 months, and my position is that you had better provide enough money for that program or throw it out now."

NEW YORK—Senator Tobey (R-N.H.): "We prayerfully and earnestly seek a permanent world peace and believe a revision of the (U. N.) charter is essential to obtain that objective."

Beauty

Beauty means this to one person and that to the other. And yet any one of us has seen or heard or read that which to him is beautiful and uplifting to him. A choirboy's voice, a ship in sail, an opening flower, a town at night, the song of the bird, a lovely poem, leaf shadows, a child's grace, the starry skies, a cathedral, apple trees in spring, a rippling stream, a butterfly, the crescent moon, waves hitting against a shore, lovely china, a train's whistle in the distance, the rustle of fall leaves—the thousand sights or sounds or words that arouse in us the thought of beauty—these are the drops of rain that keep the human spirit from death by drought. They are a stealing and silent refreshment that we perhaps do not think about but which goes on all the time.

It is the smile on the earth's face, open to all, and needs but the eyes to see, the mood to understand.

International Incident?

By PAUL GALLICO

LONDON, June 11.—The British, as everyone knows, have proven themselves masters of the detective story. Sherlock Holmes, Father Brown, Reggie Fortune, Lord Peter Wimsey, and dozens of Inspectors Whosis and Whatsis of Scotland Yard are products of the British brain and inventiveness.

Likewise, Scotland Yard has made a world-wide name for itself both in fact as well as in fiction for solving the most tangled skeins of crime. And yet there is one puzzle, a dark, deep and sinister mystery, right in their own country that our English cousins have never been able to unravel. I refer, of course, to the ingredients of the soup served in the dining car of the British railways.

Encountered It Again

Recently, I encountered it again in my travels, and feel it worthy of a brief essay. What with the thousands of American tourists who are to visit Great Britain this summer and who will eventually sample this infusion, it might well become an international incident.

Let me say right from the beginning that it is not to be blamed on the Labour Government or the nationalization of the British railways. It is an old, old formula far antedating these great social reforms. I personally can testify that it was in existence "way back in 1908 before either World War, for I was personally exposed to some of it.

It is both a gruesome and fascinating mystery.

Under No Illusions

We Americans, for instance, are under no illusions as to what OUR soups concocted aboard our long-distance trains consist of. It is all too plain and obvious. Vegetable soup is a mess of left-over vegetables from yesterday with some hot water poured over them. Clam chowder is the same with small bits of lead-pencil eraser cut up into it and faintly flavored with clam. Puree Mongol is something green that no self-respecting Mongolian would acknowledge.

These things we know and can see, smell and taste. But to the British railways' soup there is no single, solitary clue. It hasn't even a name. It is just called soup.

Since the British serve a table d'hôte lunch or dinner the soup appears swiftly, deadly and inevitably. Its appearance is signalled by a PRISONNIER or shuddering run through the patrons the length of the dining car, both First Class and Third Class, for this concoction is the same for both and knows and recognizes no class distinction. Sure enough, the waiter is standing at the head of the car bearing dishes of it on both arms, a marvelous feat of legerdemain worthy of something nobler.

Matter Of Seconds Only

It seems to be a matter of seconds only, so swift is the delivery, before everyone has a plate in front of him or her and there is no escape. An executioner works with equal speed and dispatch.

The stuff is brown in color, ranging from beige to burnt umber, depending on the cook, the speed the train is travelling, the weather and the political situation. It tastes like . . . Well, that's just it. This is where the crime part of it comes in. It tastes just awful, but you can't locate exactly what it is with your taste buds. Chemical analyses will avail you nothing either, for the secret ingredients are so blended that apparently they cannot be taken apart and broken down for identification by even the cleverest of the C. I. D. chemists and investigators.

You wouldn't want to say that it was a brew, using as a base a mild mullage as a binder and laced with wormwood, rue, quassia, asafoetida and Ed Pinaud's Hair Oil, because you couldn't PROVE it. You might want to say so after dipping the first spoonful, but you know what the British label laws are, so you don't.

Obviously Has Water

It obviously has water as one of its components, but Reggie Rortune, Lord Peter Wimsey, or Dr. Thorndike himself couldn't tell you whether it was sweet water, Thames River, salt or bilge.

The flavor . . . Well now, there you have it. All detective work breaks down when it comes to the flavor. There is no help to be had from watching the other victims spooning it into their systems for the British all have a fixed and glassy stare during the process as though subconsciously they were trying to remember something they preferred to forget and had long ago given up on the conscious plane.

Isn't mock-turtle, mock-rabbit, mock-beef or lamb and yet it contains a faint touch of burlesque of all of them. Opaque and cloudy like a river bank stirred up by a propeller wash it yields no secrets visually. Its effect on the sense of smell is mordant. There will be flashes when you think you have it and you almost shout, "Ah! Potage of brown mulling paper!" But then, of course, that is absurd. Paper is still MOST scarce in England.

A great detective story writer has said, "To have no character whatsoever is the most potent and impenetrable disguise."

This may very well be the baffling secret of this mystery liquid. How can you identify something which in the main tastes like NOTHING which has been standing around a little too long picking up a little soot-coal tunnel fumes, essence de nearby dish-towels, and tincture of smoking compartment? I offer you this as the insoluble problem.

JOBS UPON A TIME

This tragic figure, Montezuma, was born in 1466, in what is now Mexico City. At the age of 34 he succeeded his uncle, Ahuitzotl, as emperor of the Aztecs. He waged successful war against Flaxcala, Guatemala and Tehuantepec. When the conquistadores under Hernando Cortez first came to Mexico this king showered them with gifts and kindnesses. After their arrival (1520) in Tenochtitlan (now Mexico City) the Spaniards treacherously seized him and made him a virtual prisoner in a palace. The Aztecs angrily laid siege to the palace, and while he was pleading from the palace roof to his people to abandon violence that he was mortally wounded by one of his own men. He died three days later.

Born Aloysius Harry Szymanski in Milwaukee, Wis., May 22, 1903, Al Simmons, early showed fine prowess as a baseball player. Breaking into pro ball in 1922 he announced his name. With the Philadelphia Athletics 1924-1932 he never batted under .300. Twice he led the American league in batting and six in four world series. He played in 68 All-Star games, and in 1929 was named the American league's most valuable player. Later he played for the Chicago White Sox, Detroit, Washington, the Boston Braves and Cincinnati. He is now a coach with the Athletics.

England Capitalistic
We are a capitalistic nation; we might as well admit it. And so is England in spite of her Socialism. Franco plainly belongs to the dictator class; he is not only a capitalist but a dictator. The Spaniards of Spain are reconciled to his form of government and that is all right. We don't have any argument with the Communists—Russia and her satellites like Poland, Finland, Czechoslovakia and the rest of them. Tito of Yugoslavia is really more of a Capitalist Dictator than a Communist. He is pretty tired of communism and is strong on the Dictator game. He would like some (Continued on Page Seven)

BIBLE THOUGHT

If a man abide not in me, he is cast forth as a branch, and is withered; and men gather them and cast them into the fire, and they are burned. If ye abide in me, and my words abide in you, ye shall ask what ye will, and it shall be done unto you, herein is my Father glorified, that ye bear much fruit; so shall ye be my disciples. —John 15:6-8.

THE PARENT PROBLEM

from two to twelve or older, when denied some request or privilege or faced with a command he much dislikes, should cry violently, whine or speak abusively to you. This is no time to scold or lecture him, but to be quiet yourself and to have no stirrings whatsoever in your insides. Be sure he discovers that your decisions and commands are always made with reason and great caution but with decisiveness.

Suppose your child 3, 6 or 14 just whines, "crabs" or puts in a chronic fashion about almost anything. A careful check by your physician is desirable. Ask yourself if this child feels secure in the family and feels loved as much as a brother or sister; if he is getting normal satisfaction from achievement, especially with other children. In the meanwhile, when his whining and ugly ways seem almost intolerable to the rest of the family, there may be times when he should be sent to another room. Or, you might then isolate yourself from him psychologically, not allowing yourself to be annoyed at all by his ways.

If the very young child is whining for a long period it may be well to drop everything and rock, and cuddle him, read to him, or go walking with him. At such times with the older child, to think some of his successes and deep interests and to begin nonchalantly to talk of them may work like magic. So why be uppish with Franco? His Spanish peninsula sticks out into the Atlantic Ocean and the Mediterranean Sea in a very commanding way. And there is still Gibraltar. To call a fortification a "Gibraltar of defense" is to say that it is as nearly a perfect defense as is possible. The word "Gibraltar" is synonymous with strength.

In reality Europe's great urge is for Dictatorship. They have had four types of Dictators—Stalin, the Russian; Mussolini, the Italian; Hitler, the German; and Franco, the Spaniard. Yes, and the South American so-called Republics are mostly Spanish.

WASHINGTON CALLING

state department officials look unhappy.

Trouble Will Follow
With the request for arms for Greece, Turkey and assorted trouble spots, the bill for foreign spending is already threatened with drastic economy cuts. But if a middle east plan is not worked out and the drift continues, then trouble will follow.

Therefore, all possible ingenuity must be used. Perhaps private capital could be interested in some form of investment underwritten by U. N. authority, this to be combined with a small initiating fund provided directly by the U. N.

The time is short. In August the fund now being spent to maintain the Arab refugees will be gone. Then at the very least a new relief fund will be necessary. During the inflation it was argued that America could not spare equipment to be shipped abroad. Now in a deflationary period the economy argument is raised against any proposal to implement point IV. But leadership—and tangible, practical assistance—can only come from this country. (Copyright, 1949, by United Feature Syndicate, Inc.)

THE FAMILY SCRAPBOOK

By DR. ERNEST G. OSBORNE

A HOMEMADE WORK BENCH

If you haven't a fully equipped shop in your house, or if Dad is a little leary about having the youngsters use his bench, here's a workable idea that will provide them with one of their own at almost no cost.

All you need to start with is a heavy packing case such as pieces of machinery or books come packed in. The center top board and the top side boards may be removed so that iron clamps can be easily used to hold pieces of wood tightly for sawing or boring. Or, the box may be left intact and the sides or ends utilized as a convenient place to hold tools. If you wish, small wooden cheese boxes or other suitable containers such as tin cans can be fastened inside or outside to hold nails, screws, and other small pieces of material.

Some people like to paint the "work bench," though usually the natural color of the wood seems more attractive. But this is one other place in which you can give the youngsters a chance to decide on what they would like.

Polio Cases Show Little Increase

Infantile Paralysis Running Normal Course This Year; Few Cases Treated

HARRISBURG, June 11.—(INS)—Infantile paralysis is running a normal course so far this year, the State Health Department reported today.

Twenty-two victims of Poliomyelitis have been reported to the department since January 1, compared with 24 cases during the similar period a year ago.

State Epidemiologist William D. Schrack, Jr., said the polio season will reach its peak by mid-July. The department "will know by the end of July" what to expect from the unpredictable disease.

During 1948, Schrack said, 741 persons were afflicted by infantile paralysis, compared to the expectancy rate of between 300 and 400.

The increase was largely due to reports from physicians who are learning to recognize non-paralytic cases, Schrack said.

The low-point of the polio season was reached during the last week of March and the first two weeks of April this year when no cases were reported. Since mid-April only 11 cases have been treated.

The breakdown of cases reported by counties: Allegheny and Philadelphia, three each; Northumberland, two and one each in Bucks, Cambria, Centre, Chester, Clinton, Cumberland, Fayette, Jefferson, Lancaster, Luzerne, McKean, Union, Washington and Wayne counties.

Around Hollywood

By FRANK NEILL
(International News Service Staff Correspondent)

HOLLYWOOD, June 11.—The guy who has been making feature films longer than anyone else in the business can thank Uncle Sam's army for two things—a crew cut and white hair.

Paul Kelly has owned the white locks for several years but always had to dye it black for movies. Then he starred on Broadway in "Command Decision," let the tresses grow as natural and clipped it regulation butch-length.

And since he had back to Hollywood, to star with Barbara Stanwyck and Wendell Corey in "Thelma Jordan," Kelly is retaining both cut and color of his noggin.

"They're writing good parts these days for grey-haired geeks," he said. "I'm no juvenile any more. And I don't want to compete with the kids, either."

Another Star
And so another star is added to the ranks of the screen's stellar roster. Miss Stanwyck's hair is nearly fully gray, but she refuses to get a dye job like most of the acting sorority.

Kelly, who admits to 49, has been working in pictures since he was seven. In the old days his big sister was hoofing with Fred and Adele Astaire at Ned Wayburn's. Sis got Paul a job in "The Grand Army Man" with David Warfield and a few months later Vitaphone gave him a chance in the galloping timesteps.

"Used to call us nickel actors," recalled Paul, "because most of the gang worked legitimate theater nights and took a subway ride for a nickel out to Vitaphone for daytime jobs."

Veteran Actor
Back in that era Paul worked with Maurice Costello, Genevieve Tobin, Anita Stewart and Harry Davenport. He figures he has made more than 400 films and acted in 75 plays.

Darryl Zanuck brought him back to Hollywood in 1933 for "Broadway Through a Keyhole," written by Walter Winchell and starring Gus Cumber.

"I stayed 12 years," he reported. "Mainly I played cops."

Chief Inspector
When "Command Decision" opened in New York and was given featured player billing, but when the press reviews came out his name was hoisted above the title and he became a star. It had taken him just 41 years to make the grade.

So Paul came back playing cops and robbers again in "Thelma Jordan." But he has come up in the world. No ordinary man on the beat; he's now chief inspector.

"I've finally arrived," smiled Kelly. "At last I'm the white-haired boy!"

Colonel Alan Gomme-Duncan has described the British army beret as "a sloppy bit of cloth," which means that at last the unflattering remarks which the "gentlemen," and I say this advisedly, have made about the feminine chapeaus have ricocheted right back where they belong—on their own hats. "The thing which has done most for sloppiness in the army is that hideous little thing called the beret." Does he think that the derby, the fedora, the cap or the straw which the "stronger sex" call hats could contribute anyone to the cause of neatness?

It's universal knowledge that the dainty concoctions of ribbon and flowers can do much to cheer up a lady when she is blue but you've never heard of a funeral derby putting a new spring in a man's step. And the straw cover certainly does little but give him alopecia. So "gentleman," (again I say it advisedly) what do you say we women design you a little number devoid of hideousness and sloppiness and which will be guaranteed gloom-chaser.

I have intended no discourtesy to the British army of their berets but after years of hearing "Where did you get that thing, what is it?" the lid was off and I just had to let off steam—at long last!

Complete Red Cross First Aid Course

Twenty-Five Finish Instructors Refresher Training Under Area Field Director

Twenty-five persons have completed at a Red Cross First Aid Instructor's course, Mrs. Plummer Gibson, chairman of the First Aid division, announced today.

The course, taught by Charles Freeland, field director of safety services of eastern area, consisted of 15 hours of class instruction and practical work and was conducted in the auditorium of the Pennsylvania Power company service building on South Jefferson street.

All the members are eligible to join the instructor's mobile unit. This is a group of certified instructors who are prepared to render first aid assistance at all times.

First aid service is available for large gathering such as picnics and reunions upon application to the Red Cross office, North Beaver street.

Six persons were issued certificates for the first time. These are Mrs. C. M. Booher, Mrs. Russell Cartwright, D. Bruce Gibson, Richard McKee, Archie A. Shoup and Elmer Swartzlander.

Plain Grove Sesqui Will Close Sunday

Reunion Today And Communion Service Will Bring To A Close Successful Celebration

Sesqui-Centennial celebration which has been under way at the Plaingrove Presbyterian church will close with meetings today and Sunday. The services commemorating the event began last Sunday with capacity crowds on hand for the opening of the week-long program.

Today, which is known as homecoming day, got off to a good start with a basket picnic dinner at noon, followed by the Sunday school reunion. Past superintendents and former members of the Sunday school were scheduled to bring greetings during the afternoon hours.

The final services of the anniversary will take place on Sunday with communion to be observed in the morning and an inspirational song service in the evening. The pastor, Rev. Fred Cochran will be in charge of the concluding events.

Young Peoples night was observed on Thursday evening, with two former sons of the congregation, Rev. J. Calvin Winder of Pittsburgh and Rev. John R. Glenn of Cincinnati, O., speaking. Friday night Rev. C. O. Anderson of Belleville, Pa., and Rev. F. Benton Shoemaker of Brookville, Pa., spoke.

The week of special services have drawn many to the church to reminisce of by-gone days.

Try And Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

Francis L. Duffy writes from Ottawa, Ill., that he asked a misbehaving youngster, "Do you know where bad little girls go?" "Certainly," she answered. "They go almost everywhere!" In an irrelevant postscript, Mr. Duffy points out why a bird with one wing is nothing like a bird with two wings. It's a difference, as I'm sure all of you have guessed, of a pinion.

Bert Lahr's son Johnny came home in his baseball suit, beating a tattoo on the floor with his "Louisville Slugger" bat, and demanded, "Pa, give me a dollar to go window shopping." "You don't need money to go window shopping," pointed out Mr. Lahr. "Oh, yes, I do," said the son. "It's Mr. Bernay's window I'm shopping for."

Stephen Longstreet, the novelist has a solution for the troubles besetting the film industry. "There's absolutely nothing wrong with Hollywood," he told fellow members of the Authors' League, "that a short, bloody Indian uprising couldn't cure!"

BUILD KITCHEN CUPBOARDS TO SUIT YOUR UTENSILS

"Shall we buy ready-made kitchen cupboards or build them?" is the question homemakers are asking when they remodel or build new kitchens. There are advantages to both, but when the cupboards are built, families can plan them to hold the utensils on hand and to fit into the space available.

If a cupboard is needed near the stove, make a list of all the dishes, utensils and supplies to be used there. Measure these and plan the cupboard with adjustable shelves, racks and sliding partitions to meet your needs.

Plan counter surface to be at the best height for the homemakers, and two or three inches recessed at the bottom for toe-space. A comfortable working space is at least 22 to 24 inches deep and at least 36 inches long, but a longer counter is desirable if room permits. If you have an electric mixer, allow at least 15 inches between the counter surface and the bottom of the upper cupboard so that it will fit under if you want to keep it there.

Cupboard doors without panels, such as those made by 5 or 7-inch plywood, are easier to keep clean. Double hinged doors have space and safety advantages. Have a short set of doors for the upper shelf where general storage is planned if cupboards extend to the ceiling. This will prevent doors from warping.

Former Sheriff
Sues Air CompanyH. M. Reynolds And Wife
Ask $75,000 Damages
From Wilson Aviation
CompanyOTHER EVENTS
IN COURT HOUSE

In a suit filed Friday, former sheriff Harrison M. Reynolds and his wife file a three-point damage suit against the Wilson Aviation Company asking for $75,000 damages.

Mr. and Mrs. Reynolds claim the company has been flying too low over their home, jarring the house, interfering with their sleep and being the cause of a nervous breakdown suffered by Mr. Reynolds.

Some time ago an equity suit was filed in which an injunction was asked against the company, restraining them from letting planes fly low over the Reynolds home. This injunction was granted but has been violated many times, the Reynolds claim.

Of the $75,000 asked, $20,000 is for "multiplicity of trespass," $5,000 for Mrs. Reynolds for inconvenience of various sorts, and $50,000 for Mr. Reynolds. A list of doctor and hospital bills is made a part of the claim. A jury trial is asked.

MODIFICATION REFUSED

In an opinion and order handed down by Judge John G. Lamoree, Friday, the petition of the Ben Dee cafe to modify an injunction secured against them is refused. The injunction was served by James A. Travers, who operates a bowling alley directly under the cafe on Neshannock avenue.

Sometime ago Mr. Travers asked for an injunction restraining the proprietor of the cafe, Ben Dee, from permitting the toilets to overflow and seeping through to the first floor doing damage to the bowling alleys.

TWO SENTENCES

Judge Lamoree sentenced two on Friday morning. Jack Cratty was fined $100 and costs and six months to the county jail for failure to stop, and $1 and costs and six months to the county jail for operating a motor vehicle without the consent of the owner. Harvey Krause was ordered to pay the lying-in expenses and $3 per week for the support of a minor child.

WHAT IS A BORE?
"So often, I hear people say: 'Oh, she's such a bore.' I should loathe having such remarks passed about me. Can you give me advice on how to refrain from becoming a bore?"

Answer: There are all kinds of bores. The more boring they are, the less appreciation they have of their weakness. The number one anti-bore rule is: Do not talk about yourself. Regardless of how interesting you think you are, few others will agree with you, especially if you maintain your self-praise too long.

Rule No. 2: Don't take the floor and monopolize it indefinitely. We are all entranced with the sound of our own voices and must beware of uttering too many opinions and absorbing too few.

Rule No. 3: Soft-pedal your troubles. Don't act as if you were the only one who ever lost your wallet—had to pay "exorbitant" taxes, etc., etc. The jeremiad dispenses is as welcome socially as a rattlesnake. If you cannot contribute some levity to the general conversation, you will find yourself ostracized.

Rule No. 4: Be agreeable and refuse to allow yourself to get into any arguments. You need not be a perennial "yes" man but establish a reputation for being diplomatic and pleasant. No one likes a chronic dissenter or arguer.

Make it a rule to talk to people about themselves. Wait until you

WASHINGTON, June 11.—(INS)—The opportunity savings bonds drive, May 16 to June 30, offers farmers and ranchers the same opportunity to share in a "gut-edge" investment that "tops" all others in soundness and liquidity, that provides a cushion against crop failures, livestock losses, and sickness or accidents in the family, that creates a reserve to tap when income might not reach outgo, and which provides an income so that one can retire before he is too old to enjoy retirement years.

Three Escape From Industrial School
HARRISBURG, June 11.—(INS)—State police and guards from the White Hill Industrial School searched today for three 20-year-old inmates who escaped after playing at a concert in suburban Highland Park.

The youths, serving indefinite terms for larceny, jumped out of an automobile while returning to the school near Harrisburg and eluded initial attempts to capture them.

Superintendent Eugene Keller identified them as Bruno Perino, of 1337 Spring Garden St., Pittsburgh; Laverne Zook, of Ephrata; and Joseph L. Cosh, of Canton, O. They all were wearing blue serge band uniforms bearing gold piping, Keller said.

Hoover Appears In Unusual Role

DELAWARE, Ohio, June 11.—(INS)—Former President Herbert Hoover confounded a collegiate audience today by taking on the role of a first-class wit and indulging in an orgy of bureaucratic nose tweaking.

In ceremonies marking the installation of Arthur Flemming as president of Ohio Wesleyan University, Hoover cast aside his traditional mantle of reserve and became for the moment just one of the boys.

The only surviving ex-president twitted government planners, the supreme court and commencement orators, past and present.

Scenes In Croton Tribute To Retiring School Principal Hoffmaster

Citizens of New Castle showed their appreciation of Asa Hoffmaster with the presentation of a large console type radio which in the words of the master of ceremony: "will do everything but fry eggs".

Master of Ceremonies, Richard E. Rentz, appears to be awaiting the first slice of cake as Mr. and Mrs. Asa Hoffmaster cut the party cake at the Croton Community party given in Mr. Hoffmaster's honor.

Asa Hoffmaster (left) receives a plaque from Mayor John Haven. The plaque was inscribed with the words: Mayor—City of Croton.

Croton People Pay Farewell Tribute To Hoffmaster

Castle Senior High School band directed by Joe F. Repligle and then more cars of citizens.

Mr. and Mrs. Hoffmaster's arrival at the school grounds was marked by "bombs bursting in air" and the ringing of the Croton school bell.

In the school yard a bunting decorated platform had been erected and hundreds of chairs put in place. The chairs took care of only a small part of the crowd and the balance crowded into the school yard until it was filled.

The Program
Shortly after eight, Richard E. Rentz, master of ceremonies for the evening, called the crowd to order and started the program. Dr. Frank L. Burton, superintendent of schools, was the first speaker.

Said he "Mr. Hoffmaster has been a fine influence in our school system. Many fine qualities have marked his service but I would say the outstanding quality was that of loyalty. He has served under many superintendents and to all of them he has given his loyalty, his abilities and his whole hearted support. We will miss him in the school system."

Walter "Fibber" McGee, a one time student of Mr. Hoffmaster was the next speaker. Said Fibber, "we have always felt that Mr. Hoffmaster belonged peculiarly to Croton. He was more than just a school principal he was the friend of all of us, even if now and then when we were kids he had to impress us with his interest in us with a paddle. Many of us have come up through childhood to manhood and not one of us but hold him in high esteem for his work in this school."

Old Drum Corps Member
William C. "Hip" Twaddle, one of the 1917 drum corps members was the next speaker. He told of the days of the First World War when the drum corps escorted hundreds of recruits to the train. "There wasn't a patriotic activity the drum corps didn't have a part of," said he, "and despite the weather Hoffy was out there leading us."

Mr. Twaddle then introduced the members of the 1917 drum corps who were on the speaker's stand, some fifteen of them.

Bart Richards spoke briefly and was followed by Mayor John F. Haven. Said the mayor, "Asa Hoffmaster has been a fine influence in our city and all of us regret the time has come for him to take a well earned vacation. But his influence will last for many years in this city."

The mayor then presented Mr. Hoffmaster with a stainless steel plaque from the people of Croton. He also presented him with a huge badge upon which was inscribed "Mayor of the City of Croton."

Directs Band
For old time's sake, Mr. Hoffmaster was asked to direct the Croton band in a couple of numbers and he did. As he did so the charming little majorettes of the band came on to the platform and their twirling. What if the music was punctuated with the crashing explosion of air bombs. What if the pyrotechnic shower broke right over the heads of the crowd. Nobody cared, it merely added to the color and excitement of the night and the crowd went for it.

Chairman Rentz then presented Mr. and Mrs. Hoffmaster with a combination radio and phonograph set that had more gadgets on it than an airplane. It takes AM and FM, phonograph records of all sizes and apparently is fitted out to do anything but give the canary a bath.

Roland Crisel led group singing during the evening's program.

Peggy Izzo, a Croton girl with a voice of gold, sang three numbers to the applause of the crowd and then a huge farewell cake was carried out by two huskies. The cake was decorated like a Christmas tree and looked to have a couple of sacks of flour in its makeup. Mrs. Hoffmaster cut the cake as the crowd cheered.

Don Speaks
Dr. A. L. Hoffmaster, son of the honor guest spoke briefly and expressed his gratitude for the honor shown his father. As for Prof. Hoffmaster, for once in his life words came haltingly when he thanked the crowd for the farewell. "Thank you" was about as far as he got, but that was enough. If there was the suspicion of a tear in his eye, it was matched by hundreds out in the crowd.

The final touch of the evening was free ice cream and cake for everybody. It took a heap of it for that huge crowd, but somehow the committee had prepared for it.

It was an unusual evening. It was a demonstration of community spirit that can be matched in but few places. It was Croton's way of saying good-bye to a man they have loved and admired over the years, a man who now lays down his pedagogical authority to take a vacation he has well earned.

Who was responsible for the arrangements? Oh just lots of people, but just to be sure we don't miss anyone just say it was the people of Croton.

They do things well in Croton, but on Friday night they outdid themselves.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

ELEVEN hundred Wolves, and their friends, will howl at the Cleveland stadium when the Yanks and Indians clash in a twin affair, Sunday afternoon. The whistle will blow "All Aboard" at the P. R. R. West Side Station, at 9:30 a. m. Many members of the former I. A. A.'s, once an outstanding baseball aggregation here, will be among the 1100. Kiski Marino, Carm Sacco, and others in charge of the affair, are as busy as a one-armed paper-hanger, arranging the affair. . . John (Jiggers) Fonzono, former localite, and ex-soldier who served in the Pacific, with Mrs. Fonzono, is visiting the latter's family at Ellwood City. He is now a resident of Oakland, Calif., where he is affiliated with restaurant business. He reports that Frank George, former News employee, is a pressman with the Stockton Tribune and Johnny Farr, ex-fighter of Cleveland, is with the circulation department of the San Francisco Chronicle. Farr boxed Willie Michel at Youngstown. Michel fought Fay Kosky in the Jolly bowl. Fonzono told of meeting Billy Herald, former Cleveland boxer, who fought Carl Tremaine, Jimmy Mendo (who boxed Eddie Weygant) and others. Herald was a sparring mate of Billy Wallace of Cleveland, who defeated Paris Cangey at Akron. . . Clyde McCready, a scoutmaster, at the Ecclesian club, says Lawrence County scoutmasters, are forming track teams among scouts, which, after a period of preparation, will result in a county meet. . . Playing on a strange course, the Ridgewood Golf club, Redding Road, Cincinnati, Memorial Day, Jack Suzow, 30, of 914 Adams street, made a hole in one on the fifteenth hole, 185 yards, according to the Cincinnati Enquirer.

Recruiter Chief Bond has a 1000 batting average in the National League. While trying out as a hurler for the Dodgers, he singled at his only time at bat. . . Chief Wayne McFetrick, Navy recruiting office, witnessed Bill Holland win the 500-mile Indianapolis auto race. . . Bessemer County circuit, has the classic score-card put out in the triples this season. . . Some good pitching is seen in the Junior League, which already has a no-hit game and several one-hit games. . . Mike Orlando's son who pitches for the Ecclesian club, looks promising. He's only 16 but stands six feet two. . . Al Orlando, local infielder, is playing second base for Johnstown, and making good. Tom Frank, whom Here & There said gets palpitation of the heart everytime his grillers lose, says: "No, I don't get palpitation, but a defeat does worry me for five or ten minutes after the game". Incidentally, Tom has a "club" known as the "Friendly Five". If a pitcher hurls a shut-out, he hands the twirler five "bucks". If a batter hits a home run, he also is handed a five-spot. So far this season, Frank is minus about $20. . . Ellwood City Rod & Gun club meet Monday night at their club-house. . . Chief of Police Bob Hanna chalked up another birthday yesterday. . . State Game commission warns tourists: "Don't pick up that fawn deer. Chances are that its mamma is close by and taking good care of it". Once a fawn is taken into captivity, and cared for by a game warden, or some other person, it becomes tame and cannot be released again in the wilds. . . Nation's third-ranking harness driver last year, C. I. (Slim) Shilling from Columbus, O., will attempt to capture the top driver's honors at Fort Steuben (Steubenville) raceway this summer. Herman Nichols, Indiana, Pa., also has his string racing at Fort Steuben.

Pennsy Joins
Softball Loop

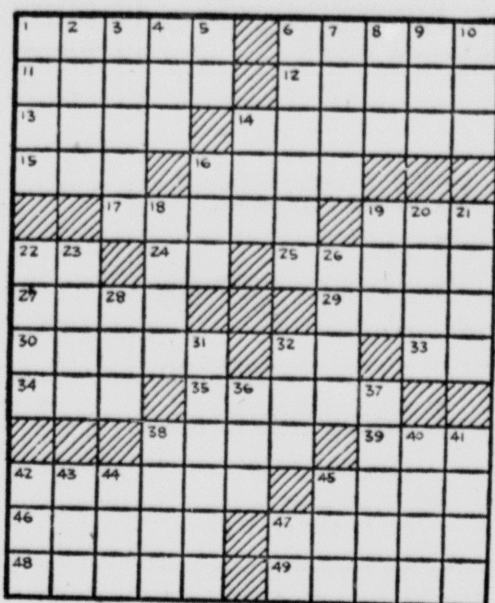

Rocco P. Viggiano, president of the city softball league today announced that the Pennsylvania Railroad team will play in the second half of the league season starting Monday in place of the United team, that failed to start the season. The Pennsy team will utilize the Progressive field in Mahoningtown for their home field. Monday the PRR will play the Shamrocks at Rose avenue field. All managers are asked to take notice of the new team in the league and all of their bye games will now be taken up. The loop now has eight teams.

TRAP AND SKEET
SHOOT SUNDAY

There will be a trap and skeet shoot at the Harbor range of the Sportsmen Club, from 2 to 6 o'clock, it was announced by President Herman Steinbrink.

Nats Will Play Oil City Refiners Top New Castle 4-2

Currently one of the hottest teams in the Mid-Atlantic league, the Youngstown Athletics will play the New Castle Nats, a double-header Sunday afternoon at Flaherty Memorial Field. The first game starts at 2 p. m.

Youngstown defeated Uniontown last night 10 to 6, and took over first place in the title race, as the Johnstown team dropped a 2 to 1 decision, to the Erie Sailors.

Oil City Wins

New Castle's much improved Nats lost a golden opportunity to gain on the sixth place Coal Barons, by losing at Oil City Friday 4 to 2. A win at Oil City tonight, and a double-killing over Youngstown Sunday, would elevate the Nats. The Nats have won six out of their last nine games.

Manager Billy Mongiello has announced that Herb Churchill and Bob Cook will get the Sunday twin-bill pitching assignments here. It is expected that Youngstown will use Wayne Shelar, the New Castle boy, in one of the games here tomorrow.

Will Draw Crowd

Youngstown will also be here for a double-header Monday night the first game starting at 7 o'clock.

In the event of good weather Sunday, no doubt a large crowd will be on hand, to greet the Nats, at Flaherty Memorial Field, and to see the league leading Youngstownians in action.

(Special to The News)

NEW CASTLE, June 11—The Oil City Refiners were put to bed they made better use of their safeties while defeating the New Castle Nats, 4-2, in the opener of their two-game series here Friday night.

Frank Smayda led the Refiners with a triple and two singles while Walt Franiak and Marande were the only members of the losing team able to get more than one hit. The two clubs will conclude their

Four Double Plays

Four double plays pulled Bill Cannon out of some bad holes. Felix Buccioni went all the way for the visitors.

New Castle jumped off to a 1-0 lead in the second inning when Kiel and Franiak singled and Marande doubled to center.

The Refiners came right back in their half of the frame to knot the count. Raucher singled, Malkasian walked and Smayda singled to score Raucher.

Oil City added two more runs in the fifth when Smayda, Boso and Wessel singled in that order.

Nats Score In 8th

New Castle cut down the lead by scoring once in the eighth. Maier, pinch-hitting for Tufts, singled, went to second on Bilo's one-base blow, and after Kiel hit in a double play, forcing Maier, Franiak singled to score Bilo from second.

The Refiners added an insurance marker in their half of the eighth on singles by Raucher and Malkasian and fielder's choices by Cannon and Smayda.

AT ELLWOOD CITY

The DeCarbos of the city softball league will go to Ellwood City Sunday to play the string Oasis team, the leaders of the Ellwood softball league. The Bombers will use "Dusty" Rhodes on the mound. Monday the DeCarbos play the Blackhaws in a city league game at Gaston Park.

Low-Hit, Low-Run County Contest

Hillsville Downs Bessemer 3 To 1, Wampum Main-Tains Lead, Koppel Wins Tenth

Lawrence County Baseball league contests on last night's schedule were featured by two low-hit, low-run contests that have important bearing on the league standing.

In a tight slugfest at Koppel, New Galilee rallied for six runs in the last three innings, but couldn't quite make it and dropped a 7 to 6 decision.

Extra Base Blows

Catcher Marshall's triple and a pair of doubles by D. Shoaf were the big blows in the winners' ninth-inning attack. Mathieson also stroked a two-bagger and Casati had two singles.

The Summary:

Koppel got seven runs in the first three innings and had a shut-out going into the top of the fifth when New Galilee pushed over five runs.

Rimoldo and Lupo smashed extra base blows for the New Galilee nine.

The Summary:

Koppel R H E Galilee R H E
Koppel 7 9 2 Galilee 6 6 0
New Galilee 6 6 0
Koppel 7 9 2 Galilee 6 6 0

Two-base hits: D. Shoaf 2, Lupo, Mathieson, three-base hits: M. Marshall, Rimoldo; stolen bases: McAndies 3, Fulton, Casati 2, Marshall; bases on balls: Bowers 3, Shoaf 1, Cleric 1, Pasture 0, Rimoldi 1; strike-outs: Bowers 5, Shoaf 5, Cleric 4, Pasture 0, Rimoldi 1; winning pitcher: Bowers; losing pitcher: Pasture; umpires: Coughlin and Thellman.

GAME PROTESTED

Bessemer invaded Hillsville for the top game on last night's card. The Hilltowners squeezed by with a 2-to-1 decision that will be protested.

The old rivals played errorless ball and had a total of seven hits between them.

The winners scored in the first inning on a balk and later in the fourth on an outfield fly. Captain Bond of Bessemer protested the runner's leaving third base before the catch to Umpire Gardello. Umpire Griffith ejected the Bessemer captain for protesting. Manager Jim Martin will protest on the basis that the second umpire had no right to eject a player who was not protesting to him.

Jim Martin doubled home Bessemer's only run in the third.

Mico's triple for Hillsville was the only other extra base hit in the game.

The summary: R H E
Bessemer 101 000 0-1 4 0
Hillsville 100 100 x-2 3 0

Batteries: Bessemer—Martin and Anderson; Hillsville—Bonace and Loretto. Umpires—Griffiths and Gardello.

WAMPUM WINS 4-2

Wampum maintained a half-game lead over Hillsville by downing Ellwood VFW 4 to 2.

Ellwood, playing at home, scored twice in the last half of the seventh but couldn't keep the rally going to catch the leaders.

Leopardo gave Ellwood only three hits while Saffer was nicked for five by Wampum.

The Vets made five errors which hurt plenty.

Brown got two hits including a home run for Wampum. H. Miller smashed a circuit clout for Ellwood.

The summary: R H E
Wampum 101 000 2-4 5 2
Ellwood VFW 100 000 2-2 3 5

POSTPONEMENT

The game scheduled between St. Lucy and Lowellville at the latter's field was postponed.

SUNDAY SCHEDULE

Only three games are on the Sunday card in the County League because the Lowellville at New Galilee pairing has been postponed until Monday.

Hillsville will attempt to make it three in a row over league-leading Wampum at Wampum. A win would give Hillsville first place.

Frankie Frisch To Manage Cubs

Former Cardinal And Pirate Manager Will Succeed Charley Grimm At Helm

BOSTON, June 11.—(INS)—Frankie Frisch, former manager of two big league clubs and now a New York Giants coach, Friday was named manager of the Chicago Cubs, replacing Charley Grimm.

Frisch, the one-time "Fordham Flash," who led the St. Louis Cardinals "gas house gang" and later the Pittsburgh Pirates, will take over direction of the seventh-place Bruins next Monday.

Phillies Stop Red-Hot Cards, Bucs Top Giants

By Les Conklin (International News Service Sports Writer)

NEW YORK, June 11—(INS)—Rival National League clubs drew a breath of relief today as the St. Louis Cardinals picked themselves out of the debris of their first defeat in seven starts.

The red-hot Cards, who had won 15 out of 17, were stopped by the Phillies last night, 3 to 2. Ken Heintzelman of the Phils beat Al Brazle with the aid of Gran Hamner and Ed Waitkus. Hamner got four hits and Waitkus three. The Phils moved up into fourth place, passing the Giants.

Brooklyn stayed at the head of the National League race by beating Cincinnati, 10 to 5, with a six-run rally in the seventh inning. Jimmy Bloodworth drove in four of Cincinnati's runs with two homers off Joe Hatten, who went the route for Brooklyn.

The Cards dropped to third place, below the Boston Braves, who trounced the Chicago Cubs 6 to 2 behind Warren Spahn's six-hit pitching.

Bill Werle, Pittsburgh's rookie southpaw who had been kayed in four of six previous starts, held the New York Giants to three hits and beat them 6 to 1.

The American League, the pacesetter, New York Yankees increased their lead over the idle Detroit Tigers by edging Cleveland, 3 to 2, in a night game.

Vic Raschi of the Yanks weakened in the ninth but racked up his ninth win of the year, thus becoming the winningest pitcher in the majors. New York knocked Gene Bearden out of the box in the first inning.

Boston's Red Sox again met with grief, this time at the hands of the Chicago White Sox to the tune of 4 to 2.

HIGHLIGHTS on SPORTS

by WINTER'S

Three-Crown Champ

Henry Armstrong, the beefy-necked Negro from the levee shanty towns of the Mississippi, became the first man in boxing history to hold 3 championship titles at one time. He was champion of the featherweights, champion of the welterweights, and in August 1938 won the lightweight decision in a 15 round bout with Lou Ambers at Madison Square Garden (N. Y. C.).

There was a crowd of 18,000 spectators, a large audience for a lightweight contest. Anguished moans were heard from the fans each time Armstrong landed a blow on Ambers and it seemed as if the crowd had come solely to root the white man on to victory. Ambers fought as brave a fight that night as he had ever fought in his entire ring career, but it was no use. He lost out by a narrow margin on a split decision by the judges, and Armstrong became the new lightweight champ. Ambers left the ring with the cheers of the fans ringing in his ears. . . but the new champ was saluted with a steady stream of ripe red razberries. Such is fame!

You will score an extra point for appearance every time you wear one of the "new look" Arrow shirts. . . soft shade tones that are perfect backgrounds for any tie. See them at Winter's Men's Store, the store that carries prestige lines of men's wear.

Universals Lose To Philadelphia

Negro American League Stars Edge Universals 3 To 2 In Exciting Contest

The Philadelphia Stars of the American Negro league defeated the Universal AA last night at Flaherty Memorial Field 3 to 2 in a thriller.

It was an exciting game all the way. Fine defensive ball was played by the Universals inspired by the sparkling work of Lou Carlikito at the keystone sack and the effective nine-hit pitching of Monk Rainey. In the middle innings Rainey proved most effective, limiting the heavy hitting Stars to no hits and no runs in the fourth, fifth, sixth and seventh innings, and only one hit in the eighth and ninth frames.

Sparkling Double-Play

A sparkling double-play, Steve Hutnick to Carlikito to Pete Razzano, in the first inning proved to the fans that they would see head-up baseball.

Effective and dangerous hitting for the Stars was done by Clarkson and Jones, who also played great defensive ball. The entire Stars infield sparked at times. Smith and B. Davis were fine at their respective posts.

Carlikito and Henry Marshall had triples for the Universals and Rainey had a pair of doubles. For the Stars the hitting of Clarkson and Jones featured.

Universals Commended

Manager Oscar Charleston of the Philadelphia team commended the Universal AA for a fine performance, and agreed that they are a hard team to beat. The Universals outlast the Stars 10 to 9.

Threatening rain kept the crowd down, although there was a good turnout nonetheless.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

ELEVEN hundred Wolves, and their friends, will howl at the Cleveland stadium when the Yanks and Indians clash in a twin affair, Sunday afternoon. The whistle will blow "All Aboard" at the P. R. R. West Side Station, at 9:30 a. m. Many members of the former I. A. A.'s, once an outstanding baseball aggregation here, will be among the 1100. Kiski Marino, Carm Sacco, and others in charge of the affair, are as busy as a one-armed paper-hanger, arranging the affair. . . John Jiggers) Fonzono, former localite, and ex-soldier who served in the Pacific, with Mrs. Fonzono, is visiting the latter's family at Ellwood City. He is now a resident of Oakland, Calif., where he is affiliated with restaurant business. He reports that Frank George, former News employe, is a pressman with the Stockton Tribune and Johnny Farr, ex-fighter of Cleveland, is with the circulation department of the San Francisco Chronicle. Farr boxed Willie Michel at Youngstown. Michel fought Fay Kosky in the Jolly bowl. Fonzono told of meeting Billy Herald, former Cleveland boxer, who fought Carl Tremaine, Jimmy Mendo (who boxed Eddie Weigant) and defeated Herold was a sparring mate of Billy Wallace of Cleveland, who defeated Paris Cangey at Akron. . . Clyde McCready, a scoutmaster, at the Ecclesian club, says Lawrence County scoutmasters, are forming track teams among scouts, which, after a period of preparation, will result in a county meet. . . Playing on a strange course, the Ridgewood Golf club, Redding Road, Cincinnati, Memorial Day, Jack Suzow, 30, of 914 Adams street, made a hole in one on the fifteenth hole, 185 yards, according to the Cincinnati Enquirer.

Recruiter Chief Bond has a 1000 batting average in the National League. While trying out as a hurler for the Dodgers, he singled at his only time at bat. . . Chief Wayne McFetrick, Navy recruiting office, witnessed Bill Holland win the 500-mile Indianapolis auto race at Bessemer, County circuit, has the classiest score-card put out in the triples this season. . . Some good pitching is seen in the Junior League, which already has a no-hit game and several one-hit games. . . Mike Orlando's son who pitches for the Ecclesian club, looks promising. He's only 16 but stands six feet two. . . Al Orlando, local infielder, is playing second base for Johnstown, and making good. Tom Frank, whom Here & There said gets palpitation of the heart everytime his grillers lose, says: "No, I don't get palpitation, but a defeat does worry me for five or ten minutes after the game". Incidentally, Tom has a "club" known as the "Friendly Five". If a pitcher hurls a shut-out, he hands the twirler five "bucks". If a batter hits a home run, he also is handed a five-spot. So far this season, Frank is minus about $20. . . Ellwood City Rod & Gun club meets Monday night at their club-house. . . Chief of Police Bob Hanna called up another birthday yesterday. . . State Game commission warns tourists: "Don't pick up that fawn deer. Chances are that its mamma is close by and taking good care of it". Once a fawn is taken into captivity, and cared for by a game warden, or some other person, it becomes tame and cannot be released again in the wilds. . . Nation's third-ranking harness driver last year, C. I. (Slim) Shilling from Columbus, O., will attempt to capture the top driver's honors at Fort Steuben (Steubenville) racing this summer. Herman Nichols, Indiana, Pa., also has his string racing at Fort Steuben.

Penney Joins Softball Loop

Rocco P. Viggiano, president of the city softball league today announced that the Pennsylvania Railroad team will play in the second half of the league season starting Monday in place of the United team, that failed to start the season.

The Penney team will utilize the Progressive field in Mahoningtown for their home field. Monday the PRR will play the Shamrocks at Rose avenue field. All managers are asked to take notice of the new team in the league and all of their bye games will now be taken up. The loop now has eight teams.
